The Care OF The Teeth

Is very important. Many, otherwise strong constitutions have been wrecked on account of carelessness in regard to teeth and mouth. We have all the well known tooth washes,
pastes and soaps, antiseptic preparations which harden the gums, polish
the teeth, and purify the mouth.

WILL NOT BE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF PEOPLE

DECISION BY PEOPLE'S INITI-ATIVE AND REFERENDUM
LEAGUE.

Laws Recently Enacted Locating Certain State Institutions Will Not be Bothered.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 26.—
Laws enacted by the recent Legislature locating State institutions at Chickasha, Ada, Claremore and other cities of the new State will not be submitted to a vote of the people by
the People's Initiative and Referendum League in an effort to bring
about their repeal, despite the fact
State Senator Campbell Russell of Warner, father and president of the league, desired to have this done.

In a session here fifty members of
the league, representing fifty of seventy-five counties of the State, voted
almost unanimously in permitting
the location of State schools as fixed
by the Legislature to stand. Campbell Russell worked hard in an effort
to cause the league to submit a bill
by the referendum, asking for the repeal of the Legislative measures locating these schools. As a companion
measure for this referendum, he expected to initiate the "Dream City"
Capitol site plan.

His defeat by the league means the death of the "Dream City" plan, and Ada is assured of the permanent location of the normal located there by
the Legislature, Chickasha is assured
of the permanency of the Girls' Industrial School located there by the Legislature and Claremore is assured
of the permanency of the East Side Preparatory School located
there.

The league decided to initiate a sane and sensible usury law, and a
more drastic graduated income-tax
law. Among some of the more prominent men of the State who were present were Senator Frank N. Colville of Calumet, Okla., Representative R. L. Glover of Rush Springs,
Grady County, and J. A. West of Shawnee, Okla., former president of
the State Farmers' Union.

Initiative Petitions.

Guthrie, Okla., May 26.—If Campbell Russell completes the initiative
petitions against certain State institutions, by June 10, any legislation for the benefit of those institutions passed by the last Legislature will be suspended until the petitions are acted upon by the people. This applies to the girls' industrial school, located
at Chickasha, the normal school located at Ada, and the branch of the University preparatory school located
at Claremore. The board of regents
of these institutions contemplate the adoption of plans and specifications
for buildings on line 2, and the question of what expenses the board may
incur prior to the legislation under
which they are acting becomes effective is presented. It is believed all moneys for the institutions will
have to be paid by the State Board
of Affairs, and the statement is made
that nothing will be done by it in advance of the date the legislation takes effect.

The fourth payment of $12,500 upon
the new buildings at Langston Colored University was made by the board to the Texas building company
having the contract today.

BY YOUNG LADY ON SOFA.

"Preso Change" The Young Man Hits
the Ceiling is Severely Injured.

Guthrie, Ok., May 25.—During the
heavy storm last night lightning
struck the home of C. A. Marr at 914
East Noble avenue, and both Marr
and his wife were critically injured.
At the time of the accident Marr's
daughter and a young man were sitting on a sofa in the parlor. The
lightning connected with the steel
springs of the sofa and the young
man was hurled against the parlor
ceiling, severely injuring him. The young lady escaped uninjured.

Working on the Ditch.

Work appears to be running smoothly over in and around the ditch on Twelfth street. It is said that the contractors remarked that the men on the ditch job were good workers and would be amply capable of handling the ditcher.

YOUNGER BROTHERS.

L. A. VonErichsen, general agent for the original Cole Younger, has arranged with Manager Harry Parks of the Airdome, for Mr. Younger to give a lecture on Thursday night,
May 27th. This lecture will be strictly high class and refined, interesting and instructive to every man, woman

the pathetic incidents of his life from the time he was a boy seventeen years of age living peacefully at home on his father's farm in Jackson county, Missouri, where he was born sixty-five years ago. He will picture to you the boy reared of good, honest parents. How he became a victim of circumstances, then a soldier

with the noted Quantrill in the Confederate army and how he fought and battled for four long years for what he thought was right and the cause
he defended. He will explain to you also why he was forced to live the life he did which caused him to live twenty-five years in prison. He will tell you about his prison life, his pardon and restoration to citizenship,
etc., and give you a complete history
of his life from childhood to the present time. Mr. Younger's subject will be "What My Life Has Taught Me."

mission 25 and 50 cents.

FOUR LIVES LOST IN MISSOURI MINE

POOR FELLOWS CAUGHT UNDER SLAB WHICH FELL WITH-OUT WARNING.

Joplin Mine Owned by St. Louis Capitalists—State Mine Inspector
Wallace Is Making Investigation to Determine Responsibility.

Joplin, Mo., May 26.—Four men
were instantly killed and their bodies mangled beyond recognition by a falling slab in the Coahuilla mine at Porto Rico, a mining camp near
here at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

The dead:
DAVID Mayes, 23 years old.
C. GREEN, 28 years old.
B. ROSS, 25 years old.
WILLIAM HAYDEN, 24 years old.
All were miners.

The men were trapped beneath a
slab of solid rock, 20 feet long, 15
feet wide and ranging from twenty-
one and a half to five feet in thickness, which fell without warning
from the roof of the drift, twenty-
five feet above them.

The first body was recovered with-
in thirty minutes after the accident,
but the others were not taken out
for two and a half hours.

The mine is owned by St. Louis
capitalists, W. E. Parker of Detroit,
Iowa, general manager. An examination was made this afternoon by
state mine inspector C. P. Wallace,
with a view of determining the cause
of the accident and fixing the responsibility.

Looks Like Success.

It appears that the new features
at Parks' picture show, the giving
away of nice presents and serving
free refreshments will popularize his
amusement this summer to the extent that a most successful summer
season will result.

The News acknowledges with appreciation an invitation from Prof.
T. W. Kennedy, superintendent of
Collins Institute to attend the commencement exercises of that institution appointed to occur Friday,
May the 29th.

Collins Institute is a government
school for Chickasaw girls situated near Frisco in the south end of Pontotoc county. Collins Institute has been especially successful during the
years of administration by Prof.
Kennedy. The school buildings and dormitories have been utilized to
their utmost capacity, filled with sweet ambitious Chickasaw girls.

There has been some discussion
among Ada's commercial and educational interests regarding the practicability of a plan to secure the cooperation of the Chickasaws and the Washington department looking to the
removal of Collins Institute to Ada
in conjunction with certain other Indian schools near by. In such event
of removal, there would necessarily
be an annual maintenance fund of
about $30,000. The following is the commencement program of the Collins Institute:

9:30 a. m.—Chapel service.
9:45 a. m.—Regular school work.
11:30 a. m.—Promotion of Classes.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, May 25.—Senator Gore
administered one of the hardest
spankings to Senator Gallinger, of
New Hampshire, in the senate the
other day, that that gentleman has received in many a long day. Senator
Gore had called for action on his
resolution demanding that a committee be appointed to give the senate
proof of the charges made by the republican leaders that the jobbers
and wholesalers have put the price
up on the consumers. Senator Gore
challenged these statements and intimated that the republicans were
not telling the truth and said they would have to show him. After the manner of the elder senators, Senator Gallinger and Senator Carter
thought they would administer a spanking to the junior senator from Oklahoma. The result was that both
these senators got about the hardest drubbing they ever got in their lives in the senate chamber. And in administering this dose to the republican senators, Senator Gore the
best example of sticking to democratic doctrine as it is known by the
old faith, and adherence to the democratic platform, that has been seen
in the tariff making. He stood up
like a man and declared that he
would not vote to protect any industry, no matter where located, in order
that money might be taken out of
the pockets of the millions of people
elsewhere and placed in the pockets
of the few. He said that his vote
could not be bought by the enticing
offers held out by the republican leaders in the way of protection of
local industries just because they happened to be in his state. His satirical and humorous replies and
keen thrusts at Senator Gallinger
convulsed the senate with laughter,
the senators clapping their hands and
the vice president laughing heartily,
all of which is contrary to senatorial procedure, but the Oklahoma senator touted the republican protection-
ists with such discomfiture that there
was no effort to restrain the glee
of the spectators.

Senator Owen dealt the ultra pro-
tectionists a body blow in the senate the other day when he accused
the republicans with deviating from
their party platform in constructing
the proposed tariff bill. He charged that the republican finance committee had made no effort to secure
the information necessary for themselves or other senators that would enable them to draft a proper tariff bill, and that this had been purposely neglected that the high pro-
tectionists might draft a bill that would be at great variance with what
the facts would justify and what the people had been promised. To quote
Senator Owen:

"I should like to make an inquiry
of the chairmen of the committee on finance. During the last campaign
the country was informed that the
republican leaders desired only a tariff which would measure the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. Why has not the finance committee furnished that report to the Senate?"

I call the attention of the chairmen
of the Finance Committee to the fact
that the senate has been furnished
with no proper report upon this matter by the committee on finance.
There is no report showing the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. The voluminous
testimony, if it might be so called,
a part of which was sworn to and
a very great part of which was not
sworn to, is no information to the
senate with regard to these particular schedules. To invite a member of this body to go through 8,000
pages of undigested stuff, prepared
by those with a peculiar interest to
serve, makes it impossible for a
member of this body to properly pass
upon the very basis upon which the
tariff was proposed to be written, and
when I ask why it has not been done,
there is no answer."

An abstract of the expense account in the Indian office shows that
during the past four years the bureau has cost the government $12,- 529,385 more than it did in the preceding 4 years, an increase of more
than three million dollars per year.
And commissioner Leupp is still crying for more money.

George Woodruff, who as assistant
attorney general for the interior department plunged Oklahoma into its present burden of litigation, has been
appointed a federal judge in Hawaii,
and his confirmation has been held
up in the senate on the grounds that
he is not considered competent, so it
is alleged.

A bill has been introduced in congress providing that all Indian funds
in the federal treasury not bearing
interest shall be placed in the national banks of the state in which
the funds originated and put at interest for the benefit of the Indians.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure
deafness, and that is by constitu-

inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rum-

when it is entirely closed, Deafness
is the result, and unless the inflam-

tube restored to its normal condition
hearing will be destroyed forever;
nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an in-

NEWS ITS BEST.

Essentially is a Right Kind of Paper.

The Daily and Weekly News has
been under one and the same directors for eight years. It is acknowledged that during the interim there
may have been many utterances and
and news reports through its columns more marked for their in-discretion than their value as a dissemination of news or principles.
But it is stoutly maintained that one
ambition and undertaking have been consistently held to the fore front.

that of publishing a paper which
would reflect creditably on the community of its operations and in all instances told the truth.

Whatever the News has published
concerning the late several tragedies
in this section has been with the
single intent of acquainting its several thousand readers, all intensely
interested in the events which represent the sacrifice of the life of their neighbors and fellow citizens, with
the facts of such occurrences that
proper estimate might be had of a
situation requiring treatment and
that the News constituency should have the news to which it was entitled.

A number of extra guards were overpowered by the mob before the negro was secured.

SCHOOL FOR CHICKASAWS DESIRED BY CITY OF ADA

FRIEND OF ADA AND EDUCATION GIVES PRACTICAL REASONS WHY LARGE SCHOOL SHOULD BE BUILT.

Reasons Why Collins Institute Should Be Located at County Site.

Fellow Citizens:

I desire to raise the consideration of a question, which, in the building of greater Ada, I believe should not be overlooked.

Let me plunge into my subject just here, then, by saying that Collins Institute, a government Indian Boarding school, located near Frisco, six miles from Stonewall, eighteen miles from Ada, should be brought to our city. There are three reasons (and they are ample) why a united effort should be put forth, in the very near future, not only by Ada, but by the entire county.

In the first place, then, I will say that the best interests of Collins Institute demand such a move. The school, I am informed, is full to overflowing; really needs more room to accommodate those in actual attendance, now. They are away from the world. It seems to me that the friends, patrons, the management and those having the general supervision and represent the Interior Department would be only too glad to get into line with a proposition, looking to the enlarging and better equipping of the Academy.

In the second place, the best interests of the County, not only the educational interests, but the commercial interests as well demand such a move. It is generally understood that the Indians are so well pleased with their schools, especially since the passing of the old regime, that they are anxious for the Department to continue them for an indefinite period. It should be remembered that in the making of future citizenship, the county must take into consideration every agency and institution which has to do with the training and development of the boy—the girl.

And, in the third place, as a business proposition, the city of Ada needs Collins Academy. It may be possible to get the school enlarged and the allowance increased for 200. What would such a Boarding school—200 boys and girls—with funds forth-coming from Washington, mean to Ada? Simply this: We could safely count on an annual maintenance fund from twenty-five to thirty thousand ($25,000.00 to $30,000.00) dollars. In addition to this the student body and teachers would bring a lot of money to the city; further, undoubtedly many prominent Chickasaws would move to the school.

It means also an increased valuation to our city property; especially that which lies any where close to the location of the Institute. The school would grow with the years. We would make a showing in just a short time, in the judgment of many that would justify the Interior Department in establishing and maintaining a great Industrial School. Why not have such a school in the Chickasaw Nation, and at Ada, too?

Gentlemen, it is up to you; what shall we do?

A friend of Education and of Ada.

School Proposition Considered.

A meeting of the citizens was held at the 25,000 club rooms this morning to consider the proposition of an undertaking to effect the removal of Collins Institute to Ada. Prof. Kennedy met with the citizens and explained the conditions thoroughly and also suggested the proper course to pursue. A lengthy discussion of the proposition revealed the fact that this would be the logical thing to do and that it could likely be done without friction from any source. A committee will be sent to Muskogee at an early date to interview Superintendent Benedict, who has charge of the Indian schools of the five civilized tribes and who is the proper person to put the matter before the Secretary of the Interior at Washington.

If the removal of this school to Ada could be effected it would mean much for Ada and would also be of great convenience to the patrons of the school.

SENATOR OWEN FAVORS TARIFF

UNTRUE TO PARTY PRINCIPLES UNLIKE SENATOR GORE ALWAYS CONSISTENT WITH TENETS OF DEMOCRACY.

Oklahoma City, May 28.—Tariff discussion in the United States senate and the part Senator Gore is taking in it has aroused much interest in Oklahoma City, and the constituency of the blind senator warmly commends him for the fight he is making. Recently, however, certain interests have attempted to secure support, in this city, to their efforts to have Senator Gore cease his fight for free hides and submit to a 15 per cent tariff on them. The argument used was that the cattlemen of this state would benefit thereby.

The matter of support to this proposition was to put up to the chamber of commerce, and as a body it sidestepped, claiming the matter was not one to receive consideration at the hands of the organization. Individual members of this organization, however, wrote letters to Senator Gore, urging him to desist in his fight for free hides and commended the action of Senator Owen on the question, as the latter favors the 15 per cent tariff.

Democracy Aroused.

But the democracy of Oklahoma City is behind Senator Gore in his position and are supporting him in the fight. R. R. Fuller, chairman of the city democratic central committee, uses some rather plain language in defense of Senator Gore's position. In discussing the subject last night, Mr. Fuller said:

"It is to be lamented that the democratic constituency of Senator Gore, in some instances, are asking that he vote with Senator Owen for a continuance of the 15 per cent duty on hides. It is not Senator Gore, but Senator Owen who needs coaching in democratic principles.

Scores Senator Owen.

"If Senator Owen, as represented, is favorable to the 15 per cent duty, he is opposing a long cherished ideal and country-old tenet of his party and will, as other democratic representatives and senators in congress do who ally themselves partially to the republican coterie of subsidized and trust employed associates, permanently embarrass and postpone national democratic victory. It is Senator Owen and not Senator Gore who should receive attention from his democratic friends.

"Our party has always advocated free raw material. It is a free trade organization, believing that a policy of this character would redound to the benefit and prosperity of the consumer and in no wise injure the manufacturer who kept his factory products to the proper standard. On the point in question, it is not explained why we are to expect cheaper shoes by keeping a tariff on hides, or how, in its final analysis, free hides with tariff shoes and leather, will work a greater disaster to the consumer. Certainly, if we are to continue our efforts to revise the tariff downward, we cannot consistently ask that the tariff be reduced on the manufactured products and in the same breath insist that it be maintained on the raw material.

Plea for Pure Democracy.

"It appears to me that some of our democratic senators are inclined to apply the logic of General Hancock. He declared that tariff was a local question. 'Probably so, but just so long as we act upon selfish or local impulses and not upon the theory of the greatest good to the greatest number, just that soon will we begin to decline in influence and eventually become a disinterested organization. Louisiana wants a duty on sugar, Alabama on iron, West Virginia on coal, Michigan, Wisconsin and Florida on lumber, Texas, Oklahoma, Montana and Wyoming cry for a duty on hides. Summary, the east procures the duty on everything it produces and allows the localized factions of western democracy to hold the bag.

"In my opinion, Senator Owen should adhere to democratic principles and vote with Senator Gore for free raw material."

HAS REVOLUTION ON HANDS

Gen. Rafael Reyes, president of the United States of Colombia, has his troubles also. Reports received at Washington tell of a revolutionary outbreak against his government in the vicinity of Rio Hacha, a seaport on the Caribbean. Gen. Iguaran is said to be the leader in the revolt and to have aspirations of his own turned in the direction of the presidency.

Should the revolt turn out serious enough to lose Gen. Reyes his place the loss would be more Colombia's than his. For if Porfirio Diaz may be called the George Washington of Mexico, then Reyes may with equal reason be termed the Diaz of Colombia. The present unrest in that republic was first noticed a month or so ago, when Reyes sought the ratification of a triangular treaty between Colombia, Panama and the United States. Now, ever since Uncle Sam sliced a piece off one side of Colombia and made it into the republic of Panama, the mention of the little canal government has not been popular in Colombia. And the public would not enthrone over any treaty with Panama and Uncle Sam together, not even to please Gen. Reyes.

Reyes became president in 1904, being elected almost unanimously with regard to partisan divisions. He has been the best ruler the country ever had. As a soldier he gained his rank of general by leading a little army, practically made up of his own employees on his estate, over to Panama back in 1885 and licking the daylights out of a revolutionary army. As a litterateur, linguist, man of the world, diplomat, he is entitled to high rank. He is, moreover, a scientist and an explorer. To him the world owes its knowledge of the interior of South America, a sealed land until he explored it with a little party, of whom one brother was killed and eaten by cannibals, another brother died of fever, a nephew was killed by a tiger and Reyes came out alone alive.

Within a year after he became president he had cut the standing army down just one-half, increased the public revenues nearly 100 per cent., gave the national treasury the first surplus it had known for 25 years and taken over for the country a monopoly in the cigarettes, brandy, emeralds and salt. He cut down the taxes, raised the customs, opened the schools, set 75 per cent. of the army at work making roads, checked disease and boosted business.

Before coming to the presidency Gen. Reyes had been minister at most of the important European capitals and to the United States. He has been the target for attempted assassins since 1904.

SECRETARY TO HITCHCOCK

Frank E. Doesburg, who has been honored with the appointment as confidential secretary to Postmaster General Hitchcock, is a well known Holland (Mich.) man, having been born in that city 35 years ago. In youth he attended the public schools, Hope college and the Holland Business college and was appointed letter-carrier upon the inauguration of free delivery service 11 years ago. He resigned from the service in 1904 and became secretary to Senator William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids. Since he entered Washington life, Mr. Doesburg has held secretarial posts under Senators Bates of Pennsylvania, Flint of California, Smith of Michigan and special stenographer in the United States senate. He is one of the best and swiftest stenographers at the national capital and has won distinction as a bright and energetic employe, an astute politician and rendered valuable service in Mr. Smith's successful campaign for the United States senate. Besides he has often been delegated to report special happenings for Washington newspapers.

He is the son of the late J. O. Doesburg, Holland's first druggist, and is unmarried. Frank's promotion is a source of gratification to his Holland friends who are legion.

AROUSES HOT CRITICISM

Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, rabbi of Sinai temple in Chicago, has caused a stir again. This time he has called down upon his head the anathemas of the American colonies of Russian Jews by his declaration in the course of a sermon from his pulpit that the United States government should take steps to prevent the wholesale immigration of Russian Jews into this country. Referring to them as "poor, ignorant people," he asserts that Russia should be compelled, by an awakening of the world, to keep them at home while she gives them an opportunity to secure an education. "If they must emigrate," he adds, "let them go to Mesopotamia, near Palestine, where a community of their own people is to be formed."

The effect of Dr. Hirsch's suggestion in some quarters may be easily imagined. In New York men like Coroner Julius Harburger, Judge Otto Rosalsky, Supreme Court Justices Greenbaum and Erlanger, are especially indignant.

Dr. Hirsch is ranked as one of the most able, scholarly, eloquent and public-spirited churchmen of his faith in America. He is of the Reform Jewish church, and his admirers include men of all races, creeds and classes. Some time since he stirred up a small tempest by declaring his willingness to marry a Jew to a Gentile under some conditions, and by defending such unions.

FAVORS CITY OWNERSHIP

Mayor Frederick H. Kreismann, the newly elected chief executive of St. Louis, Mo., has come out flatly in his inaugural address as an advocate of the municipal ownership of all public utilities. He pledges his efforts so long as he is in public life to the movement for securing to the municipality the ownership of the street railways, gas, water and electric plants and all general public conveniences.

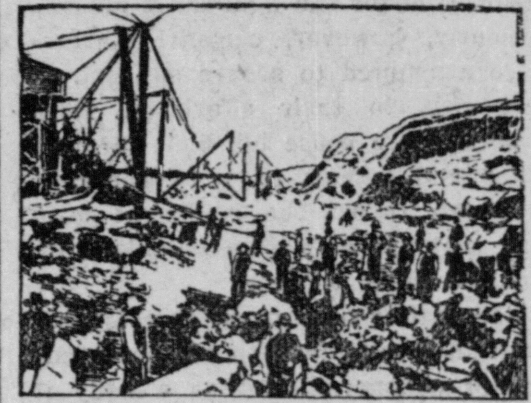

As to the wisdom of Mayor Kreismann's views there will be a decided difference of opinion, but as to his courage in taking the advanced stand he has there can be no question. Whether St. Louis is to have municipal ownership or whether it would be a blessing or a grievous error to make the experiment nobody knows with any degree of certainty. Mayor Kreismann is a Republican, 40 years old, and was an insurance man until he was elected city clerk two years ago. He found it a short step from his first official position to the mayoralty, which he won after a warm contest. He has a reputation for earnestness, sincerity and aggressive fidelity to his opinions, political and otherwise.

GRANITE MOUNTAIN QUARRIES

Texas Deposit Could Supply United States for 200 Years, It Is Said.

The Granite mountain quarries at Granite Mountain, Tex., are said to be the largest in the world. During the last 20 years there have been shipped from these quarries 250,000 carloads of granite, averaging 50,000 pounds per car. The removal of this enormous quantity is hardly noticeable. It appears as if children had been playing around the mountain's base and had chipped off a few pieces of stone. The mountain covers 100 acres and is 200 feet in height. The granite extends into the ground to an unknown depth. Experts who have inspected this wonderful store of building stone declare that the mountain contains sufficient granite to supply the whole United States with building stone for 200 years.

Quarries at Granite Mountain, Tex.

This mountain of granite came into commercial prominence at the time plans were adopted for the construction of the $3,000,000 state capitol at Austin. The building commissioners were charged under the law to select Texas stone and were casting about for the necessary material when the owners of Granite Mountain sought to have their product selected for the purpose. A geologist was sent to the quarries by the commission to investigate the quality of the granite, and he made a report that it was unfit for building purposes. The owners of the mountain immediately sent samples of the granite to experts in various portions of the United States, and the reports of these experts were unanimously favorable. The state capitol building commissioners thereupon selected this stone for the big building. The owners of the quarries furnished the granite free of cost to the state, the contractors for the building paying the expenses of quarrying, cutting and transportation. In quarrying the granite for the state capitol building 300 convicts were employed and in cutting and polishing the stone 200 Scotch granite workers found employment. The contractor was fined $10,000 for importing these Scotchmen in violation of the foreign contract labor law.

The jetties at Galveston, by which means that port secured permanent deep water, were built of granite from this mountain. Large shipments now are being made to Aransas Pass, where the stone is being used in the construction of the United States government jetties for that future deep water port. The great sea wall at Galveston, which has a length of more than five miles, is built of the same material.

One peculiarity of this mountain of stone which makes it different from all other quarries is that the formation lies in layers, varying in thickness from four inches to 20 feet. In quarrying, if large blocks are desired, they are taken from one of the thick layers. If smaller pieces are wanted a quarry of less thickness is opened. It is said that on account of these natural seams in the stone the expense of extracting these blocks is less than in any quarry in the world.

NEW MINISTER FROM CUBA.

Gen. Carlos Garcia Velez Is Son of Officer Who Won Fame in War for Independence.

Washington.—Secretary Knox the other day presented to President Taft

Gen. Carlos Garcia Velez.

Gen. Carlos Garcia Velez, who succeeds Dr. Gonzales Quesada as Cuban minister at Washington. The new Cuban minister presented his credentials with a short address, which was answered by the president.

Gen. Garcia Velez was born in Havana in 1867, and is the son of Gen. Calixto Garcia, a Cuban general famous in the war for independence.

Senor Garcia Velez took active part in the different battles in Cuba, winning his commission in the Cuban army as general. He was appointed by President Palma to be Cuban minister to Mexico, which post he held until two years ago. He is a brother of Senor Josto Garcia Velez, secretary of state of Cuba.

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB

Was a Real One, According to This New Yorker.

Charles E. Chadeayne, of Ossining, Gives History of Famous Animal—Poet Grabbed Immortality from Trip to School.

New York.—Mary's little lamb was not a myth—it was an actuality. Charles E. Chadeayne of Ossining, N. Y., is the authority who vouches for this statement and he backs it up with proofs of the little creature's origin, life, deportment and above all its experience in school on that well remembered day.

The information concerning the famous animal is gleaned from extensive researches made upon the collection of curios belonging to Mr. Chadeayne. Exhibits in this collection demonstrate to a certainty that Mary's was a spring lamb, born in 1817 in Sterling, Mass., where Mary (surnamed Sawyer), lived with her parents. The lamb destined to be so widely known, in its earliest hours, was frail in health.

Several lambs had been born at about the same time and Mary made a visit to the fold with her papa.

"Mary," said her father, "that lamb is dead."

"No, papa," replied the little girl, "for when I move its head it will move it back again."

"But it cannot live," said her father. "O, yes, maybe it can," replied Mary. "Let me take it home and nurse it and tend it."

To this Mary's papa consented. So Mary took her little lamb and carried it home and warmed it and fed it. And from that moment the poem that everybody knows was assured.

The little girl's pet was so grateful to its benefactor that it could hardly bear to have her out of its sight. But Mary must go to school, you know, and so there had to be a separation for several hours every day. But Mary always said a long good-by to it every morning. Once in a hurry this farewell slipped her mind until she had got considerable distance from the house.

And that is how it came about that Mary took the lamb to school and how the poetry spoken by every chick and child in America was inspired. To be sure, the poem says that "it followed her to school one day." Well, that can't be helped. Facts are facts, despite poets.

When Mary remembered that she hadn't paid a parting visit to the lamb she hurried right back as quick as she could. She had a little sound that she made that was half way between scream and song, and no matter where the lamb was when it heard that sound it would run to Mary. As she hastened homeward she made that little sound and sure enough here came the lamb. It looked up so pleadingly that Mary just couldn't take it back to the house and so she wrapped it up in her shawl and took it along to school.

She put it, still wrapped in the shawl, under her seat and she never studied so hard in her life as she did that morning. She did not want the teacher to look her way for fear she would see the lamb. But when the time came to say lessons the scholars in Mary's class had to go out and stand along a certain crack in the floor. And what should happen but the moment that Mary started the lamb started, too, and went right forward and stood on the crack with Mary.

John Rolleston was the poet who framed the original verses. This man of letters appears to have been a sort of New England Keats, for he was at that time not more than 17 years old. He was studying under the guidance of the village parson, and as soon as he heard about the lamb incident he saw at once that here was his opportunity.

In a kind of divine frenzy he dashed off the stanzas which relate of the lamb being sure to go where Mary did, and following her to school, and about it making the children laugh and play, and about it being against the rules, and about the teacher turning it out, and about it waiting outside until Mary came out.

This effort contained only three stanzas and no more. Mary said in the late '80's just before her death, and constituted the poem as it was stricken from the white hot anvil of John Rolleston's inspiration. So far as Mary knew, Rolleston wrote no more regarding the adventures of the lamb. It was not until several years later that Mary read in a newspaper some verses accredited to Mrs. Sara J. Hale and entitled "Mary's Little Lamb." Mrs. Hale had used the Rolleston stanzas with one or two slight changes, and to them had added three.

Mary survived her lamb by about 65 years, passing away in Somerville, Mass., at the age of 83, having in the meantime married a man named Tyler.

FREED BY BANJO PLAYING.

Pastor Hears the "Picking" of a Georgia Convict and Obtains His Release.

Atlanta, Ga.—A. L. Frierson, sentenced in 1905 to ten years' imprisonment for manslaughter, has "picked" his way to liberty in an unusual manner. No saws, "jimmies," nitroglycerin, tools or explosives were used. No shackles were broken, no steel bars tampered with and no apertures were made in prison walls.

But with his banjo Frierson literally picked his way to liberty. The convict's banjo picking attracted the attention of Dr. J. W. Lee, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Atlanta, on a recent visit to the convict camp at Valdosta. "No man with that much music in his soul," said Dr. Lee, "could be a criminal," and he circulated a petition for Frierson's release.

Gov. Smith signed Frierson's parole and recently he cast aside the stripes and will try to live up to his pledges of reformation.

"Don't Give Him Any Jam"

Tag Placed on Boy Who Is Shipped From London to Bisbee, Arizona.

New York.—A sturdy seven-year-old English lad, carrying a big basket full of eatables, started from New York for Bisbee, Ariz., the other day on the second and last stage of a lonesome journey from England. Pinned to the boy's coat was a big tag reading:

"This boy is going to a loving mother in Arizona. Treat him as you would have your own boy treated. Don't give him any jam."

The boy is Jimmy Holland. Possibly he is about the only boy in the world who would stand for a sign warning people not to give him any jam. He doesn't care. He hates jam.

Jimmy came to New York on the Teutonic. He traveled across the ocean in care of the steward and was the pet of the boat.

One year ago Jimmy's mother, Mrs. E. J. Holland, traveling from England to Arizona, stopped over night at the Star hotel, and Mr. Blake, the propri-

FAMOUS TAVERN IS RAZED.

Old Bull's Head Hostelery in Chicago Demolished to Make Room for Store.

Chicago.—The old Bull's Head tavern is no more. Its demolition was completed recently. A big store will be erected on the site. The ancient structure was built more than 60 years ago and was the second hotel on the West side, the first being the Green Tree tavern, which was razed many years ago.

With the passing of the old Bull's Head, memories of early days in Chicago are revived in the minds of many of the city's older residents. When built in 1848 the Bull's Head tavern was one of the most pretentious structures in town. Its builder, Matthew Laflin, was one of the pioneers of Chicago.

The hotel was built with the locating of the Bull's Head stockyards at the junction of West Madison street, Ogden avenue and Ashland avenue. During the first five years of its existence the only means of transportation to that "remote" part of the city was by private conveyance or on foot. In 1853 Frank Parmelee instituted a bus line from Lake and State streets to the Bull's Head tavern, the round trip consuming almost half a day. Street cars make the round trip now in less than half an hour.

With the removal of the stockyards to the south side, the old hostelry began to wane in popularity.

More than 25 years ago the tavern was removed to West Harrison street, opposite the county hospital, and had been occupied as a dwelling and confectionery store. The Washingtonian Home now occupies the original site of the Bull's Head.

BANKED CASH IN HER "RAT"

Woman Has Man Arrested for Robbing Her of Savings Concealed in Hair.

Camden, N. J.—According to a story she told Recorder Stackhouse in the Camden police court Margaret Clifton of 1124 Master street, Philadelphia, has been banking her surplus cash in the "rat" which she uses to increase the size of her fluffy pompadour. Louis Bishop was the defendant on charges of assault and battery and highway robbery and the complainant declared that he had learned the hiding place of her wealth and had followed her about with the intention of getting the money.

She had complained to the police she said and Bishop had been ordered to leave Camden, but, instead of going, had lain in wait for her at Front and Walnut streets, knocking her down, disarranging her coiffure and securing $60 therefrom, besides one of a pair of pearl earrings. This last was found in Bishop's cell after the recorder had held him without bail for court.

As he was being led away Bishop called to the court: "Your honor, that woman is married, I know her. Her name is Reed and she has been married three times."

"She's lucky," was the recorder's only comment.

DOG RETRIEVES BULLFROG.

Fox Terrier Has to Be Tied Before the Big Croaker Can Go Free.

Chester, Pa.—When George M. Wallace, a restaurateur of this city, purchased a consignment of bullfrogs from a Philadelphia some time ago there was one whopping big fellow in the lot he determined to place on exhibition. The frog soon grew docile and was given the privilege of the cafe.

The frog formed a strong attachment to Bob, a handsome fox terrier dog belonging to Wallace, and the strange friends enjoyed many a romp together until a few days ago, when Wallace decided to give the frog his liberty. Taking it to Chester creek he threw the frog overboard, but Bob, the dog, plunged at once into the stream, grabbed the frog in his mouth and brought him back ashore.

Several times the frog was thrown into the water, but each time Bob retrieved. Finally Wallace brought the frog back to his cafe. He threw him overboard again, seeing to it first, however, that Bob was locked in his box.

etor, promised her then that he would look out for her son when he came along later.

Mr. Blake got a letter a few days ago telling him that Jimmy was on the way, and to meet him at the pier. In the letter Mrs. Holland was particular in stating that Jimmy must not be allowed to get off the train to buy anything.

When Jimmy was questioned about it he said his mother knew he did not like jam and was afraid that it might embarrass people if they offered it to him and he refused it.

WILL NOT BE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF PEOPLE

DECISION BY PEOPLE'S INITI-ATIVE AND REFERENDUM
LEAGUE.

Laws Recently Enacted Locating Certain State Institutions Will Not be Bothered.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 26.—
Laws enacted by the recent Legislature locating State institutions at Chickasha, Ada, Claremore and other
cities of the new State will not be
submitted to a vote of the people by
the People's Initiative and Referendum League in an effort to bring
about their repeal, despite the fact
State Senator Campbell Russell of Warner, father and president of the
league, desired to have this done.

In a session here fifty members of
the league, representing fifty of seventy-five counties of the State, voted
almost unanimously in permitting
the location of State schools as fixed
by the Legislature to stand. Campbell Russell worked hard in an effort
to cause the league to submit a bill
by the referendum, asking for the repeal of the legislative measures locating these schools. As a companion
measure for this referendum, he expected to initiate the "Dream City"
Capitol site plan.

His defeat by the league means the
death of the "Dream City" plan, and Ada is assured of the permanent location of the normal located there by
the Legislature. Chickasha is assured
of the permanency of the Girls' Industrial School located there by the Legislature and Claremore is assured
of the permanency of the East Side Preparatory School located there.

The league decided to initiate a
sane and sensible usury law, and a
more drastic graduated income-tax
law. Among some of the more prominent men of the State who were present were Senator Frank N. Colville of Cabinet, Okla., Representative R. L. Glover of Rush Springs,
Grady County, and J. A. West of Shawnee, Okla., former president of
the State Farmers' Union.

Initiative Petitions.

Guthrie, Okla., May 26.—If Campbell Russell completes the initiative
petitions against certain State institutions, by June 10, any legislation for the benefit of those institutions passed by the last Legislature will be suspended until the petitions are acted upon by the people. This applies
to the girls' industrial school, located
at Chickasha, the normal school located at Ada, and the branch of the University preparatory school located
at Claremore. The board of regents
of these institutions contemplate the
adoption of plans and specifications
for buildings on June 2, and the question of what expenses the board may
incur prior to the legislation under
which they are acting becomes effective in present. It is believed
all moneys for the institutions will
have to be paid by the State Board
of Affairs, and the statement is made
that nothing will be done by it in advance of the date the legislation takes
effect.

The fourth payment of $12,500 upon
the new buildings at Langston Colored University was made by the
board to the Texas building company
having the contract today.

the Ceiling is Severely Injured.

Guthrie, Ok., May 25.—During the
heavy storm last night lightning
struck the home of C. A. Marr at 914
East Noble avenue, and both Marr
and his wife were critically injured.
At the time of the accident Marr's
daughter and a young man were
sitting on a sofa in the parlor. The
lightning connected with the steel
springs of the sofa and the young
man was hurled against the parlor
ceiling, severely injuring him. The young lady escaped uninjured.

FOUR LIVES LOST IN MISSOURI MINE

POOR FELLOWS CAUGHT UNDER SLAB WHICH FELL WITH-OUT WARNING.

Joplin Mine Owned by St. Louis Cap-
italists—State Mine Inspector
Wallace Is Making Investi-
gation to Determine Responsibility.

Joplin, Mo., May 26.—Four men
were instantly killed and their bodies mangled beyond recognition by a
falling slab in the Coahuilla mine at Porto Rico, a mining camp near
here at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

The dead:
DAVID Mayes, 23 years old.
C. GREEN, 28 years old.
B. ROSS, 25 years old.
WILLIAM HAYDEN, 24 years old.
All were miners.

The men were trapped beneath a
slab of solid rock, 20 feet long, 15
feet wide and ranging from twenty-
one and a half to five feet in thickness, which fell without warning
from the roof of the drift, twenty-
five feet above them.

The first body was recovered with-
in thirty minutes after the accident,
but the others were not taken out
for two and a half hours.

The mine is owned by St. Louis
capitalists, W. E. Parker of Detroit,
Iowa, general manager. An examination was made this afternoon by
state mine inspector C. P. Wallace,
with a view of determining the cause
of the accident and fixing the responsibility.

Looks Like Success.

It appears that the new features
at Parks' picture show, the giving
away of nice presents and serving
free refreshments will popularize his
amusement this summer to the extent that a most successful summer
season will result.

The News acknowledges with appreciation an invitation from Prof.
T. W. Kennedy, superintendent of
Collins Institute to attend the com-

May the 29th.

Collins Institute is a government
school for Chikokasaw girls situated
near Frisco in the south end of Pon-

been especially successful during the
years of administration by Prof.
Kennedy. The school buildings and
dormitories have been utilized to
their utmost capacity, filled with sweet ambitious Chikokasaw girls.

There has been some discussion
among Ada's commercial and educational interests regarding the practi-
cability of a plan to secure the cooperation of the Chikokasaws and the Washington department looking to the
removal of Collins Institute to Ada
in conjunction with certain other Indian schools near by. In such event
of removal, there would necessarily
be an annual maintenance fund of
about $30,000. The following is the commencement program of the Collins Institute:

- 9:30 a. m.—Chapel service.
- 9:45 a. m.—Regular school work.
- 11:30 a. m.—Promotion of Classes.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, May 25.—Senator Gore
administered one of the hardest
spankings to Senator Gallinger, of
New Hampshire, in the senate the
other day, that that gentleman has
received in many a long day. Senator
Gore had called for action on his
resolution demanding that a commit-
tee be appointed to give the senate
proof of the charges made by the republican leaders that the jobbers
and wholesalers have put the price
up on the consumers. Senator Gore
challenged these statements and intimated that the republicans were
not telling the truth and said they would have to show him. After the
manner of the elder senators, Senator Gallinger and Senator Carter
thought they would administer a
spanking to the junior senator from Oklahoma. The result was that both
these senators got about the hardest drubbing they ever got in their lives in the senate chamber. And in administering this dose to the republican senators, Senator Gore: the
best example of sticking to democratic doctrine as it is known by the
old faith, and adherence to the democratic platform, that has been seen
in the tariff making. He stood up
like a man and declared that he
would not vote to protect any indus-
try, no matter where located, in order
that money might be taken out of
the pockets of the millions of people
elsewhere and placed in the pockets
of the few. He said that his vote
could not be bought by the enticing
offers held out by the republican
leaders in the way of protection of
local industries just because they
happened to be in his state. His satirical and humorous replies and
keen thrusts at Senator Gallinger
convulsed the senate with laughter,
the senators clapping their hands and
the vice president laughing heartily,
all of which is contrary to senatorial procedure, but the Oklahoma senator tumbled the republican protection-
ists with such discomfiture that there
was no effort to restrain the glee
of the spectators.

Senator Owen dealt the ultra pro-
tectionists a body blow in the senate the other day when he accused
the republicans with deviating from
their party platform in constructing
the proposed tariff bill. He charged
that the republican finance commit-
tee had made no effort to secure
the information necessary for themselves or other senators that would
enable them to draft a proper tariff bill, and that this had been pur-
posely neglected that the high pro-
tectionists might draft a bill that
would be at great variance with what
the facts would justify and what the
people had been promised. To quote
Senator Owen:

"I should like to make an inquiry
of the chairmen of the committee on
finance. During the last campaign
the country was informed that the
republican leaders desired only a tariff which would measure the difference in the cost of production at
home and abroad. Why has not the finance committee furnished that report to the Senate?

I call the attention of the chairmen
of the Finance Committee to the fact
that the senate has been furnished
with no proper report upon this matter by the committee on finance.
There is no report showing the difference in the cost of production at
home and abroad. The voluminous
testimony, if it might be so called,
a part of which was sworn to and
a very great part of which was not
sworn to, is no information to the
senate with regard to these particular schedules. To invite a member of this body to go through 8,000
pages of undigested stuff, prepared
by those with a peculiar interest to
serve, makes it impossible for a
member of this body to properly pass
upon the very basis upon which the
tariff was proposed to be written, and
when I ask why it has not been done,
there is no answer."

An abstract of the expense account in the Indian office shows that
during the past four years the bureau has cost the government $12-529,335 more than it did in the preceding 4 years, an increase of more
than three million dollars per year.
And commissioner Leupp is still cry-
ing for more money.

George Woodruff, who as assistant
attorney general for the interior department plunged Oklahoma into its
present burden of litigation, has been
appointed a federal judge in Hawaii,
and his confirmation has been held
up in the senate on the grounds that
he is not considered competent, so it
is alleged.

A bill has been introduced in congress providing that all Indian funds
in the federal treasury not bearing
interest shall be placed in the national banks of the state in which
the funds originated and put at interest for the benefit of the Indians.

NEWS ITS BEST.

The Daily and Weekly News has
been under one and the same direc-

may have been many utterances and
and news reports through its col-

But it is stoutly maintained that one
ambition and undertaking have been consistently held to the fore front, titled.

that of publishing a paper which
would reflect creditably on the com-

instances told the truth.
Whatever the News has published
concerning the late several tragedies
in this section has been with the
single intent of acquainting its several thousand readers, all intensely
interested in the events which represent the sacrifice of the life of their

the facts of such occurrences that
proper estimate might be had of a
situation requiring treatment and
that the News' constituency should
have the news to which it was en-

Negro Brute Lynched.

Pine Bluff, Ark., May 25.—Lovett Davis, a negro, charged with the attempted criminal assault on a 16-year old girl here Friday night, was taken from the jail last midnight by an unmasked mob of three hundred men and hanged to a telephone pole on one of the principal streets of the city.

A number of extra guards were overpowered by the mob before the negro was secured. There was little excitement and no shot was fired.

SCHOOL FOR CHICKASAWS DESIRED BY CITY OF ADA

FRIEND OF ADA AND EDUCATION GIVES PRACTICAL REASONS WHY LARGE SCHOOL SHOULD BE BUILT.

Reasons Why Collins Institute Should Be Located at County Site.

Fellow Citizens:

I desire to raise the consideration of a question, which, in the building of greater Ada, I believe should not be overlooked.

Let me plunge into my subject just here, then, by saying that Collins Institute, a government Indian Boarding school, located near Frisco, six miles from Stonewall, eighteen miles from Ada, should be brought to our city. There are three reasons (and they are ample) why a united effort should be put forth, in the very near future, not only by Ada, but by the entire county.

In the first place, then, I will say that the best interests of Collins Institute demand such a move. The school, I am informed, is full to overflowing; really needs more room to accommodate those in actual attendance, now. They are away from the world. It seems to me that the friends, patrons, the management and those having the general supervision and represent the Interior Department would be only too glad to get into line with a proposition, looking to the enlarging and better equipping of the Academy.

In the second place, the best interests of the County, not only the educational interests, but the commercial interests as well demand such a move. It is generally understood that the Indians are so well pleased with their schools, especially since the passing of the old regime, that they are anxious for the Department to continue them for an indefinite period. It should be remembered that in the making of future citizenship, the county must take into consideration every agency and institution, which has to do with the training and development of the boy—the girl.

And, in the third place, as a business proposition, the city of Ada needs Collins Academy. It may be possible to get the school enlarged and the allowance increased for 200. What would such a Boarding school—200 boys and girls—with funds forthcoming from Washington, mean to Ada? Simply this: We could safely count on an annual maintenance fund from twenty-five to thirty thousand ($25,000.00 to $30,000.00) dollars. In addition to this the student body and teachers would bring a lot of money to the city; further, undoubtedly many prominent Chickasaws would move to the school.

It means also an increased valuation to our city property; especially that which lies any where close to the location of the Institute. The school would grow with the years. We would make a showing in just a short time, in the judgment of many that would justify the Interior Department in establishing and maintaining a great Industrial School. Why not have such a school in the Chickasaw Nation, and at Ada, too?

Gentlemen, it is up to you: what shall we do?

A friend of Education and of Ada.

School Proposition Considered.

A meeting of the citizens was held at the 25,000 club rooms this morning to consider the proposition of an undertaking to effect the removal of Collins Institute to Ada. Prof. Kennedy met with the citizens and explained the conditions thoroughly and also suggested the proper course to pursue. A lengthy discussion of the proposition revealed the fact that this would be the logical thing to do and that it could likely be done without friction from any source. A committee will be sent to Muskogee at an early date to interview Superintendent Benedict, who has charge of the Indian schools of the five civilized tribes and who is the proper person to put the matter before the Secretary of the Interior at Washington.

If the removal of this school to Ada could be effected it would mean much for Ada and would also be of great convenience to the patrons of the school.

SENATOR OWEN

FAVORS TARIFF

UNTRUE TO PARTY PRINCIPLES UNLIKE SENATOR GORE ALWAYS CONSISTENT WITH TENETS OF DEMOCRACY.

Oklahoma City, May 28.—Tariff discussion in the United States senate and the part Senator Gore is taking in it has aroused much interest in Oklahoma City, and the constituency of the blind senator warmly commends him for the fight he is making. Recently, however, certain interests have attempted to secure support, in this city, to their efforts to have Senator Gore cease his fight for free hides and submit to a 15 per cent tariff on them. The argument used was that the cattlemen of this state would benefit thereby.

The matter of support to this proposition was to put up in the chamber of commerce, and as a body it sidestepped, claiming the matter was not one to receive consideration at the hands of the organization. Individual members of this organization, however, wrote letters to Senator Gore, urging him to desist in his fight for free hides and commended the action of Senator Owen on the question, as the latter favors the 15 per cent tariff.

Democracy Aroused.

But the democracy of Oklahoma City is behind Senator Gore in his position and are supporting him in the fight. R. R. Fuller, chairman of the city democratic central committee, uses some rather plain language in defense of Senator Gore's position. In discussing the subject last night, Mr. Fuller said:

"It is to be lamented that the democratic constituency of Senator Gore, in some instances, are asking that he vote with Senator Owen for a continuance of the 15 per cent duty on hides. It is not Senator Gore, but Senator Owen who needs coaching in democratic principles.

Scores Senator Owen.

If Senator Owen, as represented, is favorable to the 15 per cent duty, he is opposing a long cherished ideal and country-old tenet of his party and will, as other democratic representatives and senators in congress do who ally themselves partially to the republican coterie of subsidized and trust employed associates, permanently embarrass and postpone national democratic victory. It is Senator Owen and not Senator Gore who should receive attention from his democratic friends.

Our party has always advocated free raw material. It is a free trade organization, believing that a policy of this character would redound to the benefit and prosperity of the consumer and in no wise injure the manufacturer who kept his factory products to the proper standard. On the point in question, it is not explained why we are to expect cheaper shoes by keeping a tariff on hides, or how, in its final analysis, free hides with tariff shoes and leather, will work a greater disaster to the consumer. Certainly, if we are to continue our efforts to revise the tariff downward, we cannot consistently ask that the tariff be reduced on the manufactured products and in the same breath insist that it be maintained on the raw material.

Plan for Pure Democracy.

It appears to me that some of our democratic senators are inclined to apply the logic of General Hancock. He declared that tariff was a local question. "Probably so, but just so long as we act upon selfish or local impulses and not upon the theory of the greatest good to the greatest number, just that soon will we begin to decline in influence and eventually become a disinterested organization. Louisiana wants a duty on sugar, Alabama on iron, West Virginia on coal, Michigan, Wisconsin and Florida on lumber, Texas, Oklahoma, Montana and Wyoming cry for a duty on hides. Summary, the east procures the duty on everything it produces and allows the localized factions of western democracy to hold the bag.

In my opinion, Senator Owen should adhere to democratic principles and vote with Senator Gore for free raw material."

Lived 152 Years.

Wm. Parr—England's oldest man—married the third time at 120, worked in the fields till 132 and lived 20 years longer. People should be youthful at 80. James Wright, of Spurluck, Ky., shows how to remain young. "I feel just like a 16-year old boy," he writes; "after taking six bottles of Electric Bitters. For thirty years kidney trouble made life a burden, but the first bottle of this wonderful medicine convinced me I had found the greatest cure on earth." They're a godsend to weak, sickly run-down or old people. Try them 50c at G. M. Ramsey's.

HAS REVOLUTION ON HANDS

Gen. Rafael Reyes, president of the United States of Colombia, has his troubles also. Reports received at Washington tell of a revolutionary outbreak against his government in the vicinity of Rio Hacha, a seaport on the Caribbean. Gen. Iguaran is said to be the leader in the revolt and to have aspirations of his own turned in the direction of the presidency.

Should the revolt turn out serious enough to lose Gen. Reyes his place the loss would be more Colombia's than his. For if Porfirio Diaz may be called the George Washington of Mexico, then Reyes may with equal reason be termed the Diaz of Colombia. The present unrest in that republic was first noticed a month or so ago, when Reyes sought the ratification of a triangular treaty between Colombia, Panama and the United States. Now, ever since Uncle Sam sliced a piece off one side of Colombia and made it into the republic of Panama, the mention of the little canal government has not been popular in Colombia. And the public would not enthrone over any treaty with Panama and Uncle Sam together, not even to please Gen. Reyes.

Reyes became president in 1904, being elected almost unanimously with regard to partisan divisions. He has been the best ruler the country ever had. As a soldier he gained his rank of general by leading a little army, practically made up of his own employees on his estate, over to Panama back in 1885 and kicking the daylights out of a revolutionary army. As a litterateur, linguist, man of the world, diplomat, he is entitled to high rank. He is, moreover, a scientist and an explorer. To him the world owes its knowledge of the interior of South America, a sealed land until he explored it with a little party, of whom one brother was killed and eaten by cannibals, another brother died of fever, a nephew was killed by a tiger and Reyes came out alone alive.

Within a year after he became president he had cut the standing army down just one-half, increased the public revenues nearly 100 per cent., gave the national treasury the first surplus it had known for 25 years and taken over for the country a monopoly in the cigarettes, brandy, emeralds and salt. He cut down the taxes, raised the customs, opened the schools, set 75 per cent. of the army at work making roads, checked disease and boosted business.

Before coming to the presidency Gen. Reyes had been minister at most of the important European capitals and to the United States. He has been the target for attempted assassins since 1904.

Frank E. Doesburg, who has been honored with the appointment as confidential secretary to Postmaster General Hitchcock, is a well known Holland (Mich.) man, having been born in that city 35 years ago. In youth he attended the public schools, Hope college and the Holland Business college and was appointed letter-carrier upon the inauguration of free delivery service 11 years ago. He resigned from the service in 1904 and became secretary to Senator William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids. Since he entered Washington life, Mr. Doesburg has held secretariats under Senators Bates of Pennsylvania, Flint of California, Smith of Michigan and special stenographer in the United States senate. He is one of the best and swiftest stenographers at the national capital and has won distinction as a bright and energetic employee, an astute politician and rendered valuable service in Mr. Smith's successful campaign for the United States senate. Besides he has often been delegated to report special happenings for Washington newspapers.

He is the son of the late J. O. Doesburg, Holland's first druggist, and is unmarried. Frank's promotion is a source of gratification to his Holland friends who are legion.

AROUSES HOT CRITICISM

Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, rabbi of Sinai temple in Chicago, has caused a stir again. This time he has called down upon his head the anathemas of the American colonies of Russian Jews by his declaration in the course of a sermon from his pulpit that the United States government should take steps to prevent the wholesale immigration of Russian Jews into this country. Referring to them as "poor, ignorant people," he asserts that Russia should be compelled, by an awakening of the world, to keep them at home while she gives them an opportunity to secure an education. "If they must emigrate," he adds, "let them go to Mesopotamia, near Palestine, where a community of their own people is to be formed."

The effect of Dr. Hirsch's suggestion in some quarters may be easily imagined. In New York men like Coroner Julius Harburger, Judge Otto Rosalesky, Supreme Court Justices Greenbaum and Erlanger, are especially indignant.

Dr. Hirsch is ranked as one of the most able, scholarly, eloquent and public-spirited churchmen of his faith in America. He is of the Reform Jewish church, and his admirers include men of all races, creeds and classes. Some time since he stirred up a small tempest by declaring his willingness to marry a Jew to a Gentile under some conditions, and by defending such unions.

FAVORS CITY OWNERSHIP

Mayor Frederick H. Kreismann, the newly elected chief executive of St. Louis, Mo., has come out flatly in his inaugural address as an advocate of the municipal ownership of all public utilities. He pledges his efforts so long as he is in public life to the movement for securing to the municipality the ownership of the street railways, gas, water and electric plants and all general public conveniences.

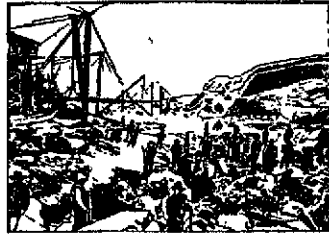

As to the wisdom of Mayor Kreismann's views there will be a decided difference of opinion, but as to his courage in taking the advanced stand he has there can be no question. Whether St. Louis is to have municipal ownership or whether it would be a blessing or a grievous error to make the experiment nobody knows with any degree of certainty. Mayor Kreismann is a Republican, 40 years old, and was an insurance man until he was elected city clerk two years ago. He found it a short step from his first official position to the mayoralty, which he won after a warm contest. He has a reputation for earnestness, sincerity and aggressive fidelity to his opinions, political and otherwise.

To Aid in Organizing Cuban Army. Capt. Frank Parker of the Eleventh cavalry will be detailed for service in Cuba to aid the newly established government to organize an army. He has just returned from the island, where he served with the army of Cuban pacification, and is at present stationed with his regiment at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

GRANITE MOUNTAIN QUARRIES

Texas Deposit Could Supply United States for 200 Years, It Is Said.

The Granite mountain quarries at Granite Mountain, Tex., are said to be the largest in the world. During the last 20 years there have been shipped from these quarries 250,000 carloads of granite, averaging 50,000 pounds per car. The removal of this enormous quantity is hardly noticeable. It appears as if children had been playing around the mountain's base and had chipped off a few pieces of stone. The mountain covers 100 acres and is 200 feet in height. The granite extends into the ground to an unknown depth. Experts who have inspected this wonderful store of building stone declare that the mountain contains sufficient granite to supply the whole United States with building stone for 200 years.

This mountain of granite came into commercial prominence at the time plans were adopted for the construction of the $3,000,000 state capital at Austin. The building commissioners were charged under the law to select Texas stone and were casting about for the necessary material when the owners of Granite mountain sought to have their product selected for the purpose. A geologist was sent to the quarries by the commission to investigate the quality of the granite, and he made a report that it was unfit for building purposes. The owners of the mountain immediately sent samples of the granite to experts in various portions of the United States, and the reports of these experts were unanimously favorable. The state capital building commissioners thereupon selected this stone for the big building. The owners of the quarries furnished the granite free of cost to the state, the contractors for the building paying the expenses of quarrying, cutting and transportation. In quarrying the granite for the state capital building 300 convicts were employed and in cutting and polishing the stone 200 Scotch granite workers found employment. The contractor was fined $10,000 for importing these Scotchmen in violation of the foreign contract labor law.

The jetties at Galveston, by which means that port secured permanent deep water, were built of granite from this mountain. Large shipments now are being made to Aransas Pass, where the stone is being used in the construction of the United States government jetties for that future deep water port. The great sea wall at Galveston, which has a length of more than five miles, is built of the same material.

One peculiarity of this mountain of stone which makes it different from all other quarries is that the formation lies in layers, varying in thickness from four inches to 20 feet. In quarrying, if large blocks are desired, they are taken from one of the thick layers. If smaller pieces are wanted a quarry of less thickness is opened. It is said that on account of these natural seams in the stone the expense of extracting these blocks is less than in any quarry in the world.

NEW MINISTER FROM CUBA.

Gen. Carlos Garcia Velez is Son of Officer Who Won Fame in War for Independence.

Washington.—Secretary Knox the other day presented to President Taft

Gen. Carlos Garcia Velez, who succeeds Dr. Gonzales Quesada as Cuban minister at Washington. The new Cuban minister presented his credentials with a short address, which was answered by the president.

Gen. Garcia Velez was born in Havana in 1867, and is the son of Gen. Calixto Garcia, a Cuban general famous in the war for independence.

Senor Garcia Velez took active part in the different battles in Cuba, winning his commission in the Cuban army as general. He was appointed by President Pajma to be Cuban minister to Mexico, which post he held until two years ago. He is a brother of Senor Josto Garcia Velez, secretary of state of Cuba.

MADE CHARGE OF CORRUPTION.

Congressman Lovering of Massachusetts declared that Mr. Rainey had received his information from blackmailers and former convicts. Mr. Rainey has been a member of the lower house since the Fifty-ninth congress.

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB

Was a Real One, According to This New Yorker.

Charles E. Chadeayne, of Ossining, Gives History of Famous Animal —Poet Grabbed Immortality from Trip to School.

New York.—Mary's Little lamb was not a myth—it was an actuality. Charles E. Chadeayne of Ossining, N. Y., is the authority who vouches for this statement and he backs it up with proofs of the little creature's origin, life, deportment and above all its experience in school on that well remembered day.

The information concerning the famous animal is gleaned from extensive researches made upon the collection of curios belonging to Mr. Chadeayne. Exhibits in this collection demonstrate to a certainty that Mary's was a spring lamb, born in 1817 in Sterling, Mass., where Mary (sur-named Sawyer), lived with her parents. The lamb destined to be so widely known, in its earliest hours, was frail in health.

Several lambs had been born at about the same time and Mary made a visit to the fold with her papa.

"Mary," said her father, "that lamb is dead."

"No, papa," replied the little girl, "for when I move its head it will move it back again."

"But it cannot live," said her father. "O, yes, maybe it can," replied Mary. "Let me take it home and nurse it and tend it."

To this Mary's papa consented. So Mary took her little lamb and carried it home and warmed it and fed it. And from that moment the poem that everybody knows was assured.

The little girl's pet was so grateful to its benefactor that it could hardly bear to have her out of its sight. But Mary must go to school, you know, and so there had to be a separation for several hours every day. But Mary always said a long good-by to it every morning. Once in a hurry this farewell slipped her mind until she had got considerable distance from the house.

And that is how it came about that Mary took the lamb to school and how the poetry spoken by every child and child in America was inspired. To be sure, the poem says that "it followed her to school one day." Well, that can't be helped. Facts are facts, despite poets.

When Mary remembered that she hadn't paid a parting visit to the lamb she hurried right back as quick as she could. She had a little sound that she made that was half way between scream and song, and no matter where the lamb was when it heard that sound it would run to Mary. As she hastened homeward she made that little sound and sure enough here came the lamb. It looked up so pleadingly that Mary just couldn't take it back to the house and so she wrapped it up in her shawl and took it along to school.

She put it, still wrapped in the shawl, under her seat and she never studied so hard in her life as she did that morning. She did not want the teacher to look her way for fear she would see the lamb. But when the time came to say lessons the scholars in Mary's class had to go out and stand along a certain crack in the floor. And what should happen but the moment that Mary started the lamb started, too, and went right forward and stood on the crack with Mary.

John Rolleston was the poet who framed the original verses. This man of letters appears to have been a sort of New England Kents, for he was at that time not more than 17 years old. He was studying under the guidance of the village parson, and as soon as he heard about the lamb incident he saw at once that here was his opportunity.

In a kind of divine frenzy he dashed off the stanzas which relate of the lamb being sure to go where Mary did, and following her to school, and about it making the children laugh and play, and about it being against the rules, and about the teacher turning it out, and about it waiting outside until Mary came out.

This effort contained only three stanzas and no more, Mary said in the late '80s just before her death, and constituted the poem as it was stricken from the white hot anvil of John Rolleston's inspiration. So far as Mary knew, Rolleston wrote no more regarding the adventures of the lamb. It was not until several years later that Mary read in a newspaper some verses accredited to Mrs. Sara J. Hale and entitled "Mary's Little Lamb." Mrs. Hale had used the Rolleston stanzas with one or two slight changes, and to them had added three.

Mary survived her lamb by about 65 years, passing away in Somerville, Mass., at the age of 83, having in the meantime married a man named Tyler.

FREED BY BANJO PLAYING.

Pastor Hears the "Picking" of a Georgia Convict and Obtains His Release.

Atlanta, Ga.—A. L. Frierson, sentenced in 1905 to ten years' imprisonment for manslaughter, has "picked" his way to liberty in an unusual manner. No saws, "jimmies," nitroglycerin, tools or explosives were used. No shackles were broken, no steel bars tampered with and no apertures were made in prison walls.

But with his banjo Frierson literally picked his way to liberty. The convict's banjo picking attracted the attention of Dr. J. W. Lee, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Atlanta, on a recent visit to the convict camp at Valdosta. "No man with that much music in his soul," said Dr. Lee, "could be a criminal," and he circulated a petition for Frierson's release.

Gov. Smith signed, Frierson's parole and recently he cast aside the stripes and will try to live up to his pledges of reformation.

"Don't Give Him Any Jam"

Tag Placed on Boy Who Is Shipped From London to Bisbee, Arizona.

New York.—A sturdy seven-year-old English lad, carrying a big basket full of eatables, started from New York for Bisbee, Ariz., the other day on the second and last stage of a lonesome journey from England. Pinned to the boy's coat was a big tag reading:

"This boy is going to a loving mother in Arizona. Treat him as you would have your own boy treated. Don't give him any jam."

The boy is Jimmy Holland. Possibly he is about the only boy in the world who would stand for a sign warning people not to give him any jam. He doesn't care. He hates jam.

Jimmy came to New York on the Teutonic. He traveled across the ocean in care of the steward and was the pet of the boat.

One year ago Jimmy's mother, Mrs. E. J. Holland, traveling from England to Arizona, stopped over night at the Star hotel, and Mr. Blake, the propri-

FAMOUS TAVERN IS RAZED

Old Bull's Head Hostelry in Chicago Demolished to Make Room for Store.

Chicago.—The old Bull's Head tavern is no more. Its demolition was completed recently. A big store will be erected on the site. The ancient structure was built more than 60 years ago and was the second hotel on the West side, the first being the Green Tree tavern, which was razed many years ago.

With the passing of the old Bull's Head, memories of early days in Chicago are revived in the minds of many of the city's older residents. When, built in 1848 the Bull's Head tavern, was one of the most pretentious structures in town. Its builder, Matthew Laffin, was one of the pioneers of Chicago.

The hotel was built with the locating of the Bull's Head stockyards at the junction of West Madison street, Ogden avenue and Ashland avenue. During the first five years of its existence the only means of transportation to that "remote" part of the city was by private conveyance or on foot. In 1853 Frank Parmelee instituted a "bus line" from Lake and State streets to the Bull's Head tavern, the round trip consuming almost half a day. Street cars make the round trip now in less than half an hour.

With the removal of the stockyards to the south side, the old hostelry began to wane in popularity.

More than 25 years ago the tavern was removed to West Harrison street, opposite the county hospital, and had been occupied as a dwelling and confectionery store. The Washingtonian Home now occupies the original site of the Bull's Head.

BANKED CASH IN HER "RAT"

Woman Has Man Arrested for Robbing Her of Savings Concealed in Hair.

Camden, N. J.—According to a story she told Recorder Stackhouse in the Camden police court Margaret Qitron of 1124 Master street, Philadelphia, has been banking her surplus cash in the "rat" which she uses to increase the size of her fluffy pompadour. Louis Bishop was the defendant on charges of assault and battery and highway robbery and the complainant declared that he had learned the hiding place of her wealth and had followed her about with the intention of getting the money.

She had complained to the police she said and Bishop had been ordered to leave Camden, but, instead of going, had lain in wait for her at Front and Walnut streets, knocking her down, disarranging her coiffure and securing $60 therefrom, besides one of a pair of pearl earrings. This last was found in Bishop's cell after the recorder had held him without bail for court.

As he was being led away Bishop called to the court: "Your honor, that woman is married, I know her. Her name is Reed and she has been married three times."

"She's lucky," was the recorder's only comment.

DOG RETRIEVES BULLFROG.

Fox Terrier Has to Be Tied Before the Big Croaker Can Go Free.

Chester, Pa.—When George M. Wallace, a restaurateur of this city, purchased a consignment of bullfrogs from a Philadelphian some time ago there was one whopping big fellow in the lot he determined to place on exhibition. The frog soon grew docile and was given the privilege of the cafe.

The frog formed a strong attachment to Bob, a handsome fox terrier dog belonging to Wallace, and the strange friends enjoyed many a romp together until a few days ago, when Wallace decided to give the frog his liberty. Taking it to Chester creek he threw the frog overboard, but Bob, the dog, plunged at once into the stream, grabbed the frog in his mouth and brought him back ashore.

Several times the frog was thrown into the water, but each time Bob retrieved. Finally Wallace brought the frog back to his cafe. He threw him overboard again, seeing to it first, however, that Bob was locked in his box.

etor, promised her then that he would look out for her son when he came along later.

Mr. Blake got a letter a few days ago telling him that Jimmy was on the way, and to meet him at the pier. In the letter Mrs. Holland was particular in stating that Jimmy must not be allowed to get off the train to buy anything.

When Jimmy was questioned about it he said his mother knew he did not like jam and was afraid that it might embarrass people if they offered it to him and he refused it.

WILL NOT BE SUBMITTED TO VOTE OF PEOPLE

DECISION BY PEOPLE'S INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM LEAGUE.

Laws Recently Enacted Locating Certain State Institutions Will Not be Bothered.

Oklahoma City, Okla., May 26.—Laws enacted by the recent Legislature locating State institutions at Chickasha, Ada, Claremore and other cities of the new State will not be submitted to a vote of the people by the People's Initiative and Referendum League in an effort to bring about their repeal, despite the fact State Senator Campbell Russell of Warner, father and president of the league, desired to have this done.

In a session here fifty members of the league, representing fifty of seventy-five counties of the State, voted almost unanimously in permitting the location of State schools as fixed by the Legislature to stand. Campbell Russell worked hard in an effort to cause the league to submit a bill by the referendum, asking for the repeal of the Legislative measures locating these schools. As a companion measure for this referendum, he expected to initiate the "Dream City" Capitol site plan.

His defeat by the league means the death of the "Dream City" plan, and Ada is assured of the permanent location of the normal located there by the Legislature. Chickasha is assured of the permanency of the Girls' Industrial School located there by the Legislature and Claremore is assured of the permanency of the East Side Preparatory School located there.

The league decided to initiate a sane and sensible usury law, and a more drastic graduated income-tax law. Among some of the more prominent men of the State who were present were Senator Frank N. Colville of Calumet, Okla., Representative R. L. Clover of Rush Springs, Grady County, and J. A. West of Shawnee, Okla., former president of the State Farmers' Union.

Initiative Petitions.

Guthrie, Okla., May 26.—If Campbell Russell completes the initiative petitions against certain State institutions, by June 10, any legislation for the benefit of those institutions passed by the last Legislature will be suspended until the petitions are acted upon by the people. This applies to the girls' industrial school, located at Chickasha, the normal school located at Ada, and the branch of the University preparatory school located at Claremore. The board of regents of these institutions contemplate the adoption of plans and specifications for buildings on June 2, and the question of what expenses the board may incur prior to the legislation under which these are being become effective is presently at issue. It is believed all moneys for the institutions will have to be paid by the State Board of Affairs, and the statement is made that nothing will be done by it in advance of the date the legislation takes effect.

The fourth payment of $12,500 upon the new buildings at Langston College University was made by the board to the Texas building company having the contract today.

FOUR LIVES LOST IN MISSOURI MINE

POOR FELLOWS CAUGHT UNDER SLAB WHICH FELL WITH-OUT WARNING.

Joplin Mine Owned by St. Louis Capitalists—State Mine Inspector Wallace Is Making Investigation to Determine Responsibility.

Joplin, Mo., May 26.—Four men were instantly killed and their bodies mangled beyond recognition by a falling slab in the Coahulla mine at Porto Rico, a mining camp near here at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

The dead: DAVID MAYES, 23 years old. C. GREEN, 28 years old. B. ROSS, 25 years old. WILLIAM HAYDEN, 24 years old. All were miners.

The men were trapped beneath a slab of solid rock 20 feet long, 15 feet wide and hanging from twenty-one and a half to five feet in thickness, which fell without warning from the roof of the drift, twenty-five feet above them.

The first body was recovered within thirty minutes after the accident, but the others were not taken out for two and a half hours.

The mine is owned by St. Louis capitalists, W. E. Parker of Detroit, Iowa, general manager. An examination was made this afternoon by state mine inspector C. P. Wallace, with a view of determining the cause of the accident and fixing the responsibility.

Looks Like Success.

It appears that the new features at Parks' picture show, the giving away of nice presents and serving free refreshments will popularize his amusements this summer to the extent that a most successful summer season will result.

PROGRAM COLLINS INSTITUTE

Has Been Suggested That This Indian School Might Be Moved to Ada.

The News acknowledges with appreciation an invitation from Prof. T. W. Kennedy, superintendent of Collins Institute to attend the commencement exercises of that institution appointed to occur Friday, May the 29th.

Collins Institute is a government school for Chiklasaw girls situated near Frisco in the south end of Pontotoc county. Collins Institute has been especially successful during the years of administration by Prof. Kennedy. The school buildings and dormitories have been utilized to their utmost capacity, filled with sweet ambitious Chiklasaw girls.

There has been some discussion among Ada's commercial and educational interests regarding the practicability of a plan to secure the cooperation of the Chiklasaws and the Washington department looking to the removal of Collins Institute to Ada in conjunction with certain other Indian schools near by. In such event of removal, there would necessarily be an annual maintenance fund of about $30,000. The following is the commencement program of the Collins Institute:

9:30 a. m.—Chapel service.
9:45 a. m.—Regular school work.
11:30 a. m.—Promotion of Classes.
2:00—4:00 p. m.—Our Annual Camp Fire. (Informal out-door gathering.) Chorus.
Opening Words—Superintendent.
Collins as Seen by an Official—Tribal Superintendent, Joe Newberry.
Our Schools—Rev. H. Colbert.
Collins as Seen by Patrons and Friends—Rev. A. T. Selfres, and others.
Domestic Science—Rev. J. C. Ralston.
The Demand of the Day—Rev. C. R. Phillips.
8:00 p. m.—Basket Ball Game.
Collins Yell—By Everybody.
8:30 p. m.—Lecture and Musical Entertainment.

Notice to My Friends.

I have resigned my position with C. C. Nash and have opened up a first class tailor shop in the rear of Guest Bros. store where I am prepared to press and clean clothes and do all kind of alteration work. Soliciting a share of your business, I am yours truly,

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER

Washington, May 25.—Senator Gore administered one of the hardest spankings to Senator Gallinger, of New Hampshire, in the senate the other day, that that gentleman has received in many a long day. Senator Gore had called for action on his resolution demanding that a committee be appointed to give the senate proof of the charges made by the republican leaders that the jobbers and wholesalers have put the price up on the consumers. Senator Gore challenged these statements and intimated that the republicans were not telling the truth and said they would have to show him. After the manner of the elder senators, Senator Gallinger and Senator Carter thought they would administer a spanking to the junior senator from Oklahoma. The result was that both these senators got about the hardest drubbing they ever got in their lives in the senate chamber. And in administering this dose to the republican senators, Senator Gore: the best example of sticking to democratic doctrine as it is known by the old faith, and adherence to the democratic platform, that has been seen in the tariff making. He stood up like a man and declared that he would not vote to protect any industry, no matter where located. In order that money might be taken out of the pockets of the millions of people elsewhere and placed in the pockets of the few. He said that his vote could not be bought by the enticing offers held out by the republican leaders in the way of protection of local industries just because they happened to be in his state. His satirical and humorous replies and keen thrusts at Senator Gallinger convulsed the senate with laughter, the senators clapping their hands and the vice president laughing heartily, all of which is contrary to senatorial procedure, but the Oklahoma senator touted the republican protectionists with such discomfiture that there was no effort to restrain the glee of the spectators.

Senator Owen dealt the ultra protectionists a body blow in the senate the other day when he accused the republicans with deviating from their party platform in constructing the proposed tariff bill. He charged that the republican finance committee had made no effort to secure the information necessary for themselves or other senators that would enable them to draft a proper tariff bill, and that this had been purposely neglected that the high protectionists might draft a bill that would be at great variance with what the facts would justify and what the people had been promised. To quote Senator Owen:

"I should like to make an inquiry of the chairman of the committee on finance. During the last campaign the country was informed that the republican leaders desired only a tariff which would measure the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. Why has not the finance committee furnished that report to the senate?"

I call the attention of the chairman of the Finance Committee to the fact that the senate has been furnished with no proper report upon this matter by the committee on finance. There is no report showing the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. The voluminous testimony, if it might be so called, a part of which was sworn to and a very great part of which was not sworn to, is no information to the senate with regard to these particular schedules. To invite a member of this body to go through 8,000 pages of undigested stuff, prepared by those with a peculiar interest to serve, makes it impossible for a member of this body to properly pass upon the very basis upon which the tariff was proposed to be written, and when I ask why it has not been done, there is no answer."

An abstract of the expense account in the Indian office shows that during the past four years the bureau has cost the government $12,529,385 more than it did in the preceding 4 years, an increase of more than three million dollars per year. And commissioner Leupp is still crying for more money.

George Woodruff, who as assistant attorney general for the interior department plunged Oklahoma into its present burden of litigation, has been appointed a federal judge in Hawaii, and his confirmation has been held up in the senate on the grounds that he is not considered competent, so it is alleged.

A bill has been introduced in congress providing that all Indian funds in the federal treasury not bearing interest shall be placed in the national banks of the state in which the funds originated and put at interest for the benefit of the Indians.

NEWS ITS BEST.
Acknowledges Many Mistakes, but Essentially is a Right Kind of Paper.
The Daily and Weekly News has been under one and the same direction for eight years. It is acknowledged that during the interim there may have been many utterances and news reports through its columns more marked for their indiscretion than their value as a dissemination of news or principles. But it is stoutly maintained that one ambition and undertaking have been consistently held to the fore front, that of publishing a paper which would reflect creditably on the community of its operations and in all instances told the truth.
Whatever the News has published concerning the late several tragedies in this section has been with the single intent of acquainting its several thousand readers, all intensely interested in the events which represent the sacrifice of the life of their neighbors and fellow citizens, with the facts of such occurrences that proper estimate might be had of a situation requiring treatment and that the News' constituency should have the news to which it was entitled.

SCHOOL FOR CHICKASAWS DESIRED BY CITY OF ADA

FRIEND OF ADA AND EDUCATION GIVES PRACTICAL REASONS WHY LARGE SCHOOL SHOULD BE BUILT.

Reasons Why Collins Institute Should Be Located at County Site.

Fellow Citizens:

I desire to raise the consideration of a question, which, in the building of greater Ada, I believe should not be overlooked.

Let me plunge into my subject just here, then, by saying that Collins Institute, a government Indian Boarding school, located near Frisco, six miles from Stonewall, eighteen miles from Ada, should be brought to our city. There are three reasons (and they are ample) why a united effort should be put forth, in the very near future, not only by Ada, but by the entire county.

In the first place, then, I will say that the best interests of Collins Institute demand such a move. The school, I am informed, is full to overflowing; really needs more room to accommodate those in actual attendance, now. They are away from the world. It seems to me that the friends, patrons, the management and those having the general supervision and represent the Interior Department would be only too glad to get into line with a proposition, looking to the enlarging and better equipping of the Academy.

In the second place, the best interests of the County, not only the educational interests, but the commercial interests as well demand such a move. It is generally understood that the Indians are so well pleased with their schools, especially since the passing of the old regime, that they are anxious for the Department to continue them for an indefinite period. It should be remembered that in the making of future citizenship, the county must take into consideration every agency and institution, which has to do with the training and development of the boy—the girl.

And, in the third place, as a business proposition, the city of Ada needs Collins Academy. It may be possible to get the school enlarged and the allowance increased for 200. What would such a Boarding school—200 boys and girls—with funds forth-coming from Washington, mean to Ada? Simply this: We could safely count on an annual maintenance fund from twenty-five to thirty thousand ($25,000.00 to $30,000.00) dollars. In addition to this the student body and teachers would bring a lot of money to the city; further, undoubtedly many prominent Chickasaws would move to the school.

It means also an increased valuation to our city property; especially that which lies any where close to the location of the Institute. The school would grow with the years. We would make a showing in just a short time, in the judgment of many that would justify the Interior Department in establishing and maintaining a great Industrial School. Why not have such a school in the Chickasaw Nation, and at Ada, too?

Gentlemen, it is up to you; what shall we do?

A friend of Education and of Ada.

School Proposition Considered.

A meeting of the citizens was held at the 25,000 club rooms this morning to consider the proposition of an undertaking to effect the removal of Collins Institute to Ada. Prof. Kennedy met with the citizens and explained the conditions thoroughly and also suggested the proper course to pursue. A lengthy discussion of the proposition revealed the fact that this would be the logical thing to do and that it could likely be done without friction from any source. A committee will be sent to Muskogee at an early date to interview Superintendent Benedict, who has charge of the Indian schools of the five civilized tribes and who is the proper person to put the matter before the Secretary of the Interior at Washington.

If the removal of this school to Ada could be effected it would mean much for Ada and would also be of great convenience to the patrons of the school.

SENATOR OWEN

FAVORS TARIFF

ENTRUE TO PARTY PRINCIPLES UNLIKE SENATOR GORE ALWAYS CONSISTENT WITH TENENTS OF DEMOCRACY.

Oklahoma City, May 28.—Tariff discussion in the United States senate and the part Senator Gore is taking in it has aroused much interest in Oklahoma City, and the constituency of the blind senator warmly commends him for the fight he is making. Recently, however, certain interests have attempted to secure support, in this city, to their efforts to have Senator Gore cease his fight for free hides and submit to a 15 per cent tariff on them. The argument used was that the cattlemen of this state would benefit thereby.

The matter of support to this proposition was to put up to the chamber of commerce, and as a body it sidestepped, claiming the matter was not one to receive consideration at the hands of the organization. Individual members of this organization, however, wrote letters to Senator Gore, urging him to desist in his fight for free hides and commended the action of Senator Owen on the question, as the latter favors the 15 per cent tariff.

Democracy Aroused.

But the democracy of Oklahoma City is behind Senator Gore in his position and are supporting him in the fight. R. R. Fuller, chairman of the city democratic central committee, uses some rather plain language in defense of Senator Gore's position. In discussing the subject last night, Mr. Fuller said:

"It is to be lamented that the democratic constituency of Senator Gore, in some instances, are asking that he vote with Senator Owen for a continuance of the 15 per cent duty on hides. It is not Senator Gore, but Senator Owen who needs coaching in democratic principles.

Scores Senator Owen.

If Senator Owen, as represented, is favorable to the 15 per cent duty, he is opposing a long cherished ideal and country-old tenet of his party and will, as other democratic representatives and senators in congress do who ally themselves partially to the republican coterie of subsidized and trust employed associates, permanently embarrass and postpone national democratic victory. It is Senator Owen and not Senator Gore who should receive attention from his democratic friends.

"Our party has always advocated free raw material. It is a free trade organization, believing that a policy of this character would redound to the benefit and prosperity of the consumer and in no wise injure the manufacturer who kept his factory products to the proper standard. On the point in question, it is not explained why we are to expect cheaper shoes by keeping a tariff on hides, or how, in its final analysis, free hides with tariff shoes and leather, will work a greater disaster to the consumer. Certainly, if we are to continue our efforts to revise the tariff downward, we cannot consistently ask that the tariff be reduced on the manufactured products and in the same breath insist that it be maintained on the raw material.

Plea for Pure Democracy.

"It appears to me that some of our democratic senators are inclined to apply the logic of General Hancock. He declared that tariff was a local question. 'Probably so, but just so long as we act upon selfish or local impulses and not upon the theory of the greatest good to the greatest number, just that soon will we begin to decline in influence and eventually become a disinterested organization. Louisiana wants a duty on sugar, Alabama on iron, West Virginia on coal, Michigan, Wisconsin and Florida on lumber, Texas, Oklahoma, Montana and Wyoming cry for a duty on hides. Summary, the east procures the duty on everything it produces and allows the localized factions of western democracy to hold the bag.

"In my opinion, Senator Owen should adhere to democratic principles and vote with Senator Gore for free raw material."

People Talked About

HAS REVOLUTION ON HANDS

Gen. Rafael Reyes, president of the United States of Colombia, has his troubles also. Reports received at Washington tell of a revolutionary outbreak against his government in the vicinity of Rio Hacha, a seaport on the Caribbean. Gen. Iguaran is said to be the leader in the revolt and to have aspirations of his own turned in the direction of the presidency.

Should the revolt turn out serious enough to lose Gen. Reyes his place the loss would be more Colombia than his. For if Porfirio Diaz may be called the George Washington of Mexico then Reyes may with equal reason be termed the Diaz of Colombia. The present unrest in that republic was first noticed a month or so ago when Reyes sought the ratification of a triangular treaty between Colombia, Panama and the United States. Now ever since Uncle Sam sliced a piece off one side of Colombia and made it into the republic of Panama, the mention of the little canal government has not been popular in Colombia. And the public would not enthuse over any treaty with Panama and Uncle Sam together not even to please Gen. Reyes.

Reyes became president in 1904 being elected almost unanimously without regard to partisan divisions. He has been the best ruler the country ever had. As a soldier he gained his rank of general by leading a little army practically made up of his own employees on his estate, over to Panama back in 1885 and heaving the daylight out of a revolutionary army. As a litterateur Augustus man of the world diplomat he is entitled to high rank. He is moreover a scientist and an explorer. To him the world owes its knowledge of the interior of South America a sealed land until he explored it with a little party, of whom one brother was killed and eaten by cannibals another brother died of fever a nephew was killed by a tiger and Reyes came out alone alive.

Within a year after he became president he had cut the standing army down just one half increased the public revenues nearly 100 per cent gave the national treasury the first surplus it had known for 25 years and taken over for the country a monopoly in the cigarettes brandy emeralds and salt. He cut down the taxes, raised the customs, opened the schools, set 75 per cent of the army at work making roads checked disease and boosted business.

Before coming to the presidency Gen. Reyes had been minister at most of the important European capitals and to the United States. He has been the target for attempted assassins since 1904.

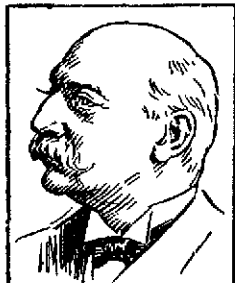

SECRETARY TO HITCHCOCK

Frank E. Doeburg who has been honored with the appointment as confidential secretary to Postmaster General Hitchcock is a well known Holland (Mich.) man, having been born in that city 55 years ago. In youth he attended the public schools, Hope college and the Holland Business college and was appointed letter carrier upon the inauguration of free delivery service 11 years ago. He resigned from the service in 1904 and became secretary to Senator William Alden Smith of Grand Rapids. Since he entered Washington life, Mr. Doeburg has held secretarialships under Senators Bates of Pennsylvania, Flint of California, Smith of Michigan and special stenographer in the United States senate. He is one of the best and swiftest stenographers at the national capital and has won distinction as a bright and energetic employee, an astute politician and rendered valuable service in Mr. Smith's successful campaign for the United States senate. Besides he has often been delegated to report special happenings for Washington newspapers.

He is the son of the late J. O. Doeburg, Holland's first druggist and is unmarried. Frank's promotion is a source of gratification to his Holland friends who are legion.

AROUSES HOT CRITICISM

Rev. Dr. Emil G. Hirsch, rabbi of Sinai temple in Chicago has caused a stir again. This time he has called down upon his head the anathemas of the American colonies of Russian Jews by his declaration in the course of a sermon from his pulpit that the United States government should take steps to prevent the wholesale immigration of Russian Jews into this country. Referring to them as "poor ignorant people" he asserts that Russia should be compelled, by an awakening of the world to keep them at home while she gives them an opportunity to secure an education. "If they must emigrate," he adds, "let them go to Mesopotamia, near Palestine, where a community of their own people is to be formed."

The effect of Dr. Hirsch's suggestion in some quarters may be easily imagined. In New York men like Coroner Julius Harburger, Judge Otto Rosalsky, Supreme Court Justices Greenbaum and Erlanger, are especially indignant. Dr. Hirsch is ranked as one of the most able, scholarly, eloquent and public spirited churchmen of his faith in America. He is of the Reform Jewish church and his admirers include men of all races, creeds and classes. Some time since he stirred up a small tempest by declaring his willingness to marry a Jew to a Gentile under some conditions, and by defending such unions.

FAVORS CITY OWNERSHIP

Mayor Frederick H. Kreismann, the newly elected chief executive of St. Louis, Mo., has come out flatly in his inaugural address as an advocate of the municipal ownership of all public utilities. He pledges his efforts so long as he is in public life to the movement for securing to the municipality the ownership of the street railways, gas, water and electric plants and all general public conveniences.

As to the wisdom of Mayor Kreismann's views there will be a decided difference of opinion, but as to his courage in taking the advanced stand he has there can be no question. Whether St. Louis is to have municipal ownership or whether it would be a blessing or a grievous error to make the experiment nobody knows with any degree of certainty. Mayor Kreismann is a Republican, 40 years old, and was an insurance man until he was elected city clerk two years ago. He found it a short step from his first official position to the mayoralty, which he won after a warm contest. He has a reputation for earnestness, sincerity and aggressive fidelity to his opinions, political and otherwise.

He has just returned from the island, where he served with the army of Cuban pacification, and is at present stationed with his regiment at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga.

GRANITE MOUNTAIN QUARRIES

Texas Deposit Could Supply United States for 200 Years, It Is Said.

The Granite mountain quarries at Granite Mountain, Tex. are said to be the largest in the world. During the last 20 years there have been shipped from these quarries 250,000 carloads of granite, averaging 50,000 pounds per car. The removal of this enormous quantity is hardly noticeable. It appears as if children had been playing around the mountain's base and had chipped off a few pieces of stone. The mountain covers 100 acres and is 200 feet in height. The granite extends into the ground to an unknown depth. Experts who have inspected this wonderful store of building stone declare that the mountain contains sufficient granite to supply the whole United States with building stone for 200 years.

This mountain of granite came into commercial prominence at the time plans were adopted for the construction of the $3,000,000 state capitol at Austin. The building commissioners were charged under the law to select Texas stone and were casting about for the necessary material when the owners of Granite mountain sought to have their product selected for the purpose. A geologist was sent to the quarries by the commission to investigate the quality of the granite, and he made a report that it was unfit for building purposes. The owners of the mountain immediately sent samples of the granite to experts in various portions of the United States, and the reports of these experts were unanimously favorable. The state capitol building commissioners thereupon selected this stone for the big building. The owners of the quarries furnished the granite free of cost to the state, the contractors for the building paying the expenses of quarrying, cutting and transportation. In quarrying the granite for the state capitol building 300 convicts were employed and in cutting and polishing the stone 200 Scotch granite workers found employment. The contractor was fined $10,000 for importing these Scotchmen in violation of the foreign contract labor law.

The jetties at Galveston, by which means that port secured permanent deep water, were built of granite from this mountain. Large shipments now are being made to Arkansas Pass, where the stone is being used in the construction of the United States government jetties for that future deep water port. The great sea wall at Galveston, which has a length of more than five miles, is built of the same material.

One peculiarity of this mountain of stone which makes it different from all other quarries is that the formation lies in layers varying in thickness from four inches to 20 feet. In quarrying, if large blocks are desired they are taken from one of the thick layers. If smaller pieces are wanted a quarry of less thickness is opened. It is said that on account of these natural seams in the stone the expense of extracting these blocks is less than in any quarry in the world.

The information concerning the famous animal is gleaned from extensive researches made upon the collection of curios belonging to Mr. Chadeayne. Exhibits in this collection demonstrate to a certainty that Mary's was a spring lamb born in 1817 in Sterling Mass., where Mary (sister named Sawyer), lived with her parents. The lamb destined to be so widely known in its earliest hours, was frail in health.

Several lambs had been born at about the same time and Mary made a visit to the fold with her papa. Mary said her father, that lamb is dead.

No, papa, replied the little girl for when I move its head it will move it back again.

But it cannot live said her father. 'O, yes maybe it can,' replied Mary. Let me take it home and nurse it and tend it.

To this Mary's papa consented. So Mary took her little lamb and carried it home and warmed it and fed it. And from that moment the poem that everybody knows was assured.

The little girl's pet was so grateful to its benefactor that it could hardly bear to have her out of its sight. But Mary must go to school, you know, and so there had to be a separation for several hours every day. But Mary always said a long good by to it every morning. Once in a hurry this farewell slipped her mind until she had got considerable distance from the house.

And that is how it came about that Mary took the lamb to school and how the poetry spoken by every chick and child in America was inspired. To be sure, the poem says that it followed her to school one day. Well, that can't be helped. Facts are facts despite poets.

When Mary remembered that she hadn't paid a parting visit to the lamb she hurried right back as quick as she could. She had a little sound that she made that was half way between scream and song, and no matter where the lamb was when it heard that sound it would run to Mary. As she hastened homeward she made that little sound and sure enough here came the lamb. It looked up so pleadingly that Mary just couldn't take it back to the house and so she wrapped it up in her shawl and took it along to school.

She put it, still wrapped in the shawl under her seat and she never studied so hard in her life as she did that morning. She did not want the teacher to look her way for fear she would see the lamb. But when the time came to say lessons the scholars in Mary's class had to go out and stand along a certain crack in the floor. And what should happen but the moment that Mary started the lamb started, too, and went right for ward and stood on the crack with Mary.

John Rolleston was the poet who framed the original verses. This man of letters appears to have been a sort of New England Keats for he was at that time not more than 17 years old. He was studying under the guidance of the village parson, and as soon as he heard about the lamb incident he saw at once that here was his opportunity.

In a kind of divine frenzy he dashed off the stanzas which relate of the lamb being sure to go where Mary did, and following her to school, and about it making the children laugh and play, and about it being against the rules, and about the teacher turning it out and about it waiting outside until Mary came out.

This effort contained only three stanzas and no more, Mary said 11 the late '80s just before her death, and constituted the poem as it was stricken from the white hot anvil of John Rolleston's inspiration. So far as Mary knew Rolleston wrote no more regarding the adventures of the lamb. It was not until several years later that Mary read in a newspaper some verses accredited to Mrs. Sara J. Hale and entitled 'Mary's Little Lamb.' Mrs. Hale had used the Rolleston stanzas with one or two slight changes and to them had added three.

Mary survived her lamb by about 65 years, passing away in Somerville, Mass. at the age of 83, having in the meantime married a man named Tyler.

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB

Was a Real One, According to This New Yorker.

Charles E. Chadeayne, of Ossining, Gives History of Famous Animal—Poet Grabbed Immortality from Trip to School.

New York—Mary's little lamb was not a myth—it was an actuality. Charles E. Chadeayne of Ossining, N. Y., is the authority who vouches for this statement and he backs it up with proofs of the little creature's origin, life department and above all its experience in school on that well remembered day.

The information concerning the famous animal is gleaned from extensive researches made upon the collection of curios belonging to Mr. Chadeayne. Exhibits in this collection demonstrate to a certainty that Mary's was a spring lamb born in 1817 in Sterling Mass., where Mary (sister named Sawyer), lived with her parents. FREED BY BANJO PLAYING.

Pastor Hears the "Picking" of a Georgia Convict and Obtains His Release.

Atlanta, Ga.—A. L. Frierson sentenced in 1905 to ten years' imprisonment for manslaughter, has "picked" his way to liberty in an unusual manner. No saws, "jimmies," nitroglycerin tools or explosives were used. No shackles were broken, no steel bars tampered with and no apertures were made in prison walls.

But with his banjo Frierson literally picked his way to liberty. The convict's banjo picking attracted the attention of Dr. J. W. Lee, pastor of Trinity Methodist church, Atlanta, on a recent visit to the convict camp at Valdosta. "No man with that much music in his soul," said Dr. Lee, "could be a criminal," and he circulated a petition for Frierson's release.

Gov. Smith signed Frierson's parole and recently he cast aside the stripes and will try to live up to his pledges of reformation.

"Don't Give Him Any Jam"

Tag Placed on Boy Who Is Shipped From London to Blebe, Arizona.

New York—A sturdy seven year-old English lad, carrying a big basket full of eatables, started from New York for Bisbee, Ariz., the other day on the second and last stage of a lonesome journey from England. Pinned to the boy's coat was a big tag reading:

"This boy is going to a loving mother in Arizona. Treat him as you would have your own boy treated. Don't give him any jam."

The boy is Jimmy Holland. Possibly he is about the only boy in the world who would stand for a sign warning people not to give him any jam. He doesn't care. He hates jam.

Jimmy came to New York on the Teutonic. He traveled across the ocean in care of the steward and was the pet of the boat.

One year ago Jimmy's mother, Mrs. E. J. Holland, traveling from England to Arizona, stopped over night at the Star hotel, and Mr. Blake, the propri-

FAMOUS TAVERN IS RAZED.

Old Bull's Head Hostelry in Chicago Demolished to Make Room for Store.

Chicago—The old Bull's Head tavern is no more. Its demolition was completed recently. A big store will be erected on the site. The ancient structure was built more than 60 years ago and was the second hotel on the West side, the first being the Green Tree tavern, which was razed many years ago.

With the passing of the old Bull's Head, memories of early days in Chicago are revived in the minds of many of the city's older residents. When built in 1848 the Bull's Head tavern was one of the most pretentious structures in town. Its builder, Matthew Laffin, was one of the pioneers of Chicago.

The hotel was built with the locating of the Bull's Head stockyards at the junction of West Madison street, Ogden avenue and Ashland avenue. During the first five years of its existence the only means of transportation to that "remote" part of the city was by private conveyance or on foot. In 1853 Frank Farmalee instituted a bus line from Lake and State streets to the Bull's Head tavern the round trip consuming almost half a day. Street cars make the round trip now in less than half an hour.

With the removal of the stockyards to the south side the old hostelry began to wane in popularity.

More than 25 years ago the tavern was removed to West Harrison street, opposite the county hospital, and had been occupied as a dwelling and confectionery store. The Washingtonian Home now occupies the original site of the Bull's Head.

BANKED CASH IN HER "RAT"

Woman Has Man Arrested for Robbing Her of Savings Concealed in Hair.

Camden, N. J.—According to a story she told Recorder Stackhouse in the Camden police court Margaret Clifton of 1124 Master street, Philadelphia, has been banking her surplus cash in the "rat" which she uses to increase the size of her fluffy pompadour. Louis Bishop was the defendant on charges of assault and battery and highway robbery and the complainant declared that he had learned the hiding place of her wealth and had followed her about with the intention of getting the money.

She had complained to the police she said and Bishop had been ordered to leave Camden, but, instead of going had lain in wait for her at Front and Walnut streets knocking her down disarranging her coiffure and securing $60 therefrom, besides one of a pair of pearl earrings. This last was found in Bishop's cell after the recorder had held him without bail for court.

As he was being led away Bishop called to the court: "Your honor, that woman is married I know her. Her name is Reed and she has been married three times."

"She's lucky," was the recorder's only comment.

DOG RETRIEVES BULLFROG.

Fox Terrier Has to Be Tied Before the Big Croaker Can Go Free.

Chester, Pa.—When George M. Wallace a restaurateur of this city, purchased a consignment of bullfrogs from a Philadelphian some time ago there was one whopping big fellow in the lot he determined to place on exhibition. The frog soon grew doddle and was given the privilege of the cafe.

The frog formed a strong attachment to Bob, a handsome fox terrier dog belonging to Wallace, and the strange friends enjoyed many a romp together until a few days ago, when Wallace decided to give the frog his liberty. Taking it to Chester creek he threw the frog overboard, but Bob, the dog, plunged at once into the stream, grabbed the frog in his mouth and brought him back ashore.

Several times the frog was thrown into the water, but each time Bob retrieved. Finally Wallace brought the frog back to his cafe. He threw him overboard again, seeing to it first, however, that Bob was locked in his box.
